

Mitchell Japp is the Research and Extension Manager at SaskBarley. Mitchell joined SaskBarley in 2020 to coordinate the research portfolio and share the results of the research with farmers so they can implement the ideas on-farm. SaskBarley has several options to get information, centred around the BarleyBin, SaskBarley's extension arm. Mitchell is excited about generating new ideas and seeing the results. Mitchell and his wife Leah live on an acreage, with three children ages 8, 12 and 16, near Bethune and Lumsden.
